MONEY MATTERS PART 1 - BUDGETING

Angela Moore | Financial Aid Coordinator, UF College of Veterinary Medicine
Why is budgeting important?

- Majority of vet med students take out loans for their education
- Average indebtedness of Class of 2016 UFCVM grads- $170,043
  - *Nationwide, 1/5 of recent graduates had over $200,000 in debt!
- Unsubsidized and Grad PLUS loans accrue interest while you’re in school – so you will ultimately be responsible for repaying far more than you borrowed

But – A budget can help reduce your debt load!

- NEVER borrow more than you really need – Be honest with yourself about needs vs. wants and explore non-loan options
- Rule of thumb: Always Borrow Conservatively
- A budget will help you decide what expenses you need to cover - and therefore how much you need to borrow each academic year

Reference: https://www.avma.org/about/savma/studentfinancialresources/pages/default.aspx
Why else is budgeting important, besides reduction of debt load?

- Avoid being broke – Aid is disbursed only once each semester
  - Remember – Some bills may be due before aid is disbursed
  - Your landlord, Cox, GRU, etc. likely won’t care that you’re a student!

- Know where your money is going

- Be prepared for the unexpected

- Relieve stress!

NOTE - Even if you’re a senior, it’s never too late to start budgeting!

Budgeting skills are important for life, not just school. (And are very helpful when your loans enter repayment!)
Still not convinced you need a budget? Ask yourself some questions...

- Can you make ends meet every month? Even at the beginning and end of the semester?

- Do you ever find yourself looking at your bank account and wondering how it got that low?

- Do you often make impulsive or spontaneous purchases? (Small purchases count!)

- Do you frequently have to forego buying things you want, or maybe even need, because you don’t have enough money?

- Do you sometimes have to make late payments on bills?

- If you have a credit card, are you unable to make the minimum payment each month?

- Do you sometimes have to use credit cards to cover expenses?

If you answered “yes” to some or all – You need a budget!!
But...I don’t have time to budget! I’m way too busy.

- Keep it simple! Complicated spreadsheets aren’t necessary. Nor are expert math skills.
- There’s no one “right” way to budget - Find a method that’s easily adaptable and works for you.
- The hardest part is setting up your budget – and even that doesn’t take too long.
- After set-up, maintenance is generally quick and easy.

Budgeting is very important (not just for school, for life) – so make it a priority and find the time!
Ok, you convinced me ... I need a budget! How do I make one?

• Good news! There are tons of FREE resources to help you with creating a budget!

• Start with your bank or credit union
  • Many financial institutions offer free online banking accounts, budgeting software, and/or phone apps

• Figure out a way to track your spending on a consistent basis

• Track in whatever way works for you (an app, spreadsheet, on paper, etc.)

• No need to track down to the penny – but be realistic!
  • Round up instead of down
There is also a budget worksheet available on the SFA “Forms” page.

Personal Financial Planning Tool

Track, plan, overcome, succeed!

Reach your financial goals with the easy-to-use AVMA Personal Financial Planning Tool - track your expenses, plan for your future, and succeed!

The AVMA’s Personal Financial Planning Tool (PFP Tool) will help you build a personalized estimate of your budget needs so you can plan how to repay debt in an acceptable time frame while also saving for the future. Everyone talks about the importance of budgeting, but actually setting up a budget can be daunting. This tool helps make it easy by walking you through each of the essential steps.

The time to complete the tool varies among users, from 30 minutes to 3 hours. You can start using the tool at any time, then save your information and return later to continue working. It may be helpful to have certain financial documents or information available as you complete your budget. These documents would include:

- Pay stubs
- Bills for utilities, cell phone, internet, cable/satellite television, etc.
- Rent/mortgage payment information
- Vehicle lease or loan information
- Information on student loans and other loans/debt (you may want to visit NSLDS to retrieve your federal student loan balances)
- Credit card statements for up to a year
- Statements indicating your savings and retirement contributions
- Dues invoices for associations, clubs, or other organizations
- Charitable donation documentation
- Receipts for groceries, restaurants, entertainment, personal hygiene products, etc.

Once you have completed your budget, submit the data anonymously so that you may compare yourself to your peers and access benchmark information in the coming year. As we build our database, you will be able to search income and expenses by certain categories, such as graduation year, occupation type, and ZIP/postal code.

We also offer additional personal financial planning resources. Find out more here.

Make a Budget

Use this worksheet to see how much money you spend this month. Then, use this month's information to help you plan next month's budget.

Some bills are monthly and some come less often. If you have an expense that does not occur every month, put it in the “Other expenses this month” category.

I’ve got a tracking system – Now how do I actually CREATE my budget?

Timeframe: Can be monthly, semester, academic year, etc. – Whatever works for you!

1. Identify Income
   • Remember to include ALL sources of income
     • Financial aid, family contributions, employment, etc.
     • Underestimate income! Better to end up with a surplus than a shortfall

2. Identify Expenses
   • Types of expenses
     • Fixed – Same amount each month
     • Variable – Change from month to month
     • Periodic – Occur irregularly
     • May be helpful to categorize (your budget tracking system can help with this!)
       • Examples: Utilities, Housing, Food, Entertainment
     • Create an expense category to prepare for the unexpected
       • Essentially – pay yourself each month so you’re ready in the event you have an unanticipated expense arise
       • If it doesn’t – great, you have some savings! Don’t spend that, keep it in case you need it later
     • Overestimate expenses! Same as with income – better to end up with a surplus than a shortfall
3. Evaluate & Adjust

   The million dollar equation!

   !INCOME - EXPENSES = ???

   0 = Balanced Budget

   On point. But no “wiggle room” – are you ready for the unexpected?

   Positive number = Great! You’ve got extra money!

   Hint, hint: Save it and/or use it to pay the interest on your student loans

   Negative number = Uh-oh. Time to cut back!
I need to reduce my expenses! What can I do?

Needs vs Wants – What can you live without?

The answer to this is very individualized. You don’t have to get rid of entire categories of expenses (e.g., Entertainment) – Be realistic!

Decide what is important to YOU and what takes priority in your life.
• Categorize by “Must have”, “Really want”, “Would be nice”

Areas to Reduce Costs –
• Do you have cable or satellite TV? Consider downgrading your package or eliminating altogether
  • Get an antenna for over-the-air channels
  • Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Prime, etc.
  • UF library – Has lots of shows and movies on DVD available
• Cell phone! Evaluate your plan and inquire about cheaper options
• Transportation
  • RTS - Free to all UF students!
  • Carpool (split the cost of a parking decal)
  • Shop around for your car insurance – make sure you’re getting the best deal
I need to reduce my expenses! What can I do? cont.

More Ideas-

- Entertainment – Lots of free or cheap things to do in Gainesville
  - Take advantage of being a UF student!
- UF Dept. of Recreational Sports - 2 fitness centers, classes, equipment rental
- Eating out is VERY expensive – pack a lunch, bring your own coffee, etc.
  - Stay away from vending machines!
- Going out with friends – Drinks, movies, etc. add up fast!
  - Again, take advantage of those free/cheap opportunities
  - Hang out at someone’s house instead of going out
- Utilities
  - Turn up your A/C thermostat a couple of degrees
  - Be mindful of how much water you’re using
- Groceries
  - Buy generic instead of name brand
  - Be savvy about sales and coupons! Just because it’s on sale or has a coupon doesn’t mean it’s the best deal
  - Know yourself – If you end up throwing out fresh food because it goes bad before you eat it, buy frozen or canned
  - Lots of websites to help you budget and meal plan
Ok, my budget is ready! What do I do going forward?

• Your budget is a living document – It shouldn’t be rigid and unchanging

• Regularly review and update your budget

• If you make a mistake and overspend, don’t waste time fretting about it! Forgive yourself and get back on track.

• If you’re about to impulsively buy something, stop and ask yourself:
  • Do I really need this? (not want!)
  • Can I afford this?
  • If I buy this now, will I be happy I bought it a month from now?
  • Do I need to save this money to meet a goal?
  • Should I wait to buy this item when it goes on sale?
  • Can I buy this in generic instead of name-brand?
• AnnualCreditReport.com – Official site to obtain your yearly credit report from all 3 credit agencies (FREE! Do not pay for your report)

• MyMoney.gov – Sponsored by the federal government’s Financial Literacy and Education Commission
  • Covers 5 areas of money management – Earn, Borrow, Save & Invest, Spend, Protect
  • Easy to understand

• Mint.com – Very thorough money management tool (including budgeting)
  • Sponsored by Intuit
  • You may receive solicitations/ads, but the tool itself is free

• Your personal bank or credit union

• Your loan servicer (Go to NSLDS.gov to look up)

• YouCanDealWithIt.com – Sponsored by FedLoanServicing
  • Simple, practical information on budgeting, saving, credit cards, student loans, and more
